WHERE WILL CALIFORNIA GET ITS ENERGY? (And at what cost?)

In the months of January and February we will be learning all about energy as we participate in the League of Women Voters of California Energy Update Study. The topic is extremely timely, with electric bills about to take a big jump, costly transmission projects under consideration, and supply options that were formerly rejected for California, like LNG, back on the table once more.

The past ten years have brought dramatic changes to the pricing and delivery of electric energy in California. The LWVC Energy position, last revised in 1980, reflects the assumptions of a time when electricity was still provided by a regulated monopoly system, in which exclusive service areas were granted and a single company provided generation, transmission and distribution of power for each area under the oversight of designated public agencies. The League's position strongly supports conservation, efficiency and renewable sources of energy, but its scope does not encompass issues of current concern, including troublesome questions resulting from attempts to operate the power system as a competitive marketplace.

Frustrated by our inability to address current issues, delegates to the 2003 LWVC convention called for a study to update our position. The LWVC Energy Update Study Committee has labored long and hard to make sense of a complicated topic. Those of us on the LWV-Beach Cities Energy Committee have been impressed with their efforts and look forward to sharing their findings with you at our Membership meetings on January 28 and February 27, when we will seek to reach consensus on a number of important topics.

FROM THE NOMINATING COMMITTEE CHAIR

Each January your nominating committee starts work on the slate of officers for the LWVBC for the following year. Although the official election is not until May and the League year does not start until September, it is important to have people lined up to fill the positions. So I am asking League members to consider what leadership role they might play in 2006-2007.

Leadership in the League consists of officers and a board of directors - 14 in all this year. In our new directory I see well over one hundred names and I must admit that I know only a small percentage of our members. I feel sure there are those who could contribute new energy and ideas to our board. We just need to know who they are.

Selecting our board each year should not, and we hope will never be, an exercise in cronyism. Please let me know if you are interested in volunteering for a board position or if you know of a member that you think should be asked.

PONDERING OUR BYLAWS

A committee of the Board is now reviewing the bylaws for the League of Women Voters of the Beach Cities. Proposals for amendments should be submitted in writing no later than February 11, 2006 to Doris Rosenberg, 3006 Johnston Ave., Redondo Beach, CA 90278.

NEW BLUE LEAGUE DIRECTORY

Our sincere thanks to Doris Rosenberg and Peggy Bartlett who helped compile and proofread the Beach Cities League Directory for 2005-2006. We hope you will refer to it often for the information it contains on elected officials, election dates, web addresses for the County, State and National levels of the League, and much more.

We are aware of one needed correction to the Calendar on the back of the front cover: Membership Meetings will take place on February 27 and March 27, not on the 20th as stated. Please correct your copy now so you won't be confused later. Please also check your listing and let us know of any other corrections.
